

Sandwell College

Sandwell College Prepares for Launch

Sandwell College are in the midst of preparing for their launch of the ITQ qualification in September this year and have been attending the professional development training run by Warwickshire College.

“I think this qualification may take a while to get going, but I really believe that it is the way forward. This really is individual learning at its best and I’m sure that employers will see the benefit of it in use at the office”.

<David Alexander, IT Flexi-Study Manager

Sandwell College intend to have a team of four delivering ITQ, plus an Internal Verifier, who are all very excited about the possibilities for the future. Their Marketing team and their work-based learning representatives have begun spreading the word in their area.

“My tip for other providers wanting to deliver the ITQ is to make sure that you have the full training. We found that the training delivered by Warwickshire College was excellent and fundamental to our being able to bring the programme to fruition”.

<David Alexander, IT Flexi-Study Manager